My son goes here and he loves it! We've been to two other daycare centers and this is by far the best. It offers small classes with a challenging and engaging curriculum. The children get a lot of individual attention and a lot of play time.

I truly appreciate the cultural and ethnic diversity in the staff. They bring different traditions together and help the kids explore other cultures. They make everyone feel welcome and safe.

An Accredited Center

At Trusted Friends we believe that every child is capable of excellence. That is why we are committed to pursuing and maintaining our status as an accredited daycare center. By seeking national accreditation, you know that Trusted Friends is striving to give your family the very best daycare experience.

What is Accreditation?

Every daycare center must meet the state's minimum license requirements. We go beyond that. When a daycare center is awarded national accreditation they are meeting a higher standard that demonstrates its expertise in:

- Classroom Management
- Curriculum Development
- Health and Safety
- Parental Support
- Community Involvement
- Teacher Certification
- Administrative Oversight
- Financial Statements

Our commitment to accreditation gives you assurance we provide a positive educational experience for your child.

How does Accreditation Work?

Every other year we go through an intense review by recognized and esteemed national accreditation agencies. Their positive reports (available for inspection) confirm that we are providing a clean, safe, and positive environment for our children. Accreditation verifies that our teachers are qualified and fully engaged in giving our children a first-class educational experience.

Once we've completed the entire accreditation self-study process, trained professionals from our accrediting agencies conduct on-site visits to validate our compliance with national early childhood education standards. But accreditation doesn't just take place every two years. It's an ongoing process of self-evaluation, discussion, and parental reviews.

We encourage parents to help us improve our center and become better stewards for their children. You can part of the accreditation process as we work together to make Trusted Friends a great neighborhood center.

Who Provides Accreditation?

There are several national organizations that provide accreditation services. Who a center chooses for oversight is important. Trusted Friends pursues national accreditation from three of the most respected national early childhood accreditation agencies:

- National Association for Youth Care
- United Accreditation for Early Care and Education
- National Daycare Accreditation

Feel free to contact us to discuss accreditation and learn more about our standards for care and education.

Our Community

Trusted Friends is committed to improving the lives of children in our community. Our expertise in caring for the children at our daycare center gives us a unique understanding of child development, education issues, and parenting. Trusted Friends has partnered with several community organizations that advocate for poor and needy children and families.

We don't think of it as charity. It's part of our calling.

Improving Literacy

Part of Trusted Friend's mission is to promote literacy, which is key to education and a fulfilling life. We support reading programs and national literacy efforts initiated at both the local and national level. These efforts include providing early access to books and other reading material. We are also in the Raised by Reading program, helping parents share the reading experience with their children.

Promoting Partnerships

We are proud of our support for the Big Siblings organization. Several of our educators are Big Sibling mentors and we provide meeting space and monthly activities for this fine group. We are also deeply involved with the Young Care Nurses organization, working to prevent child abuse and neglect. We partner with other caregivers committed to strengthening families in the community. For example we are a charter member of Sunflower Friends, which creates learning and enrichment opportunities for underprivileged children, helping them to realize their potential and recognize their inherent dignity.

Please contact us if you believe that Trusted Friends can be a partner with your group in improving the lives of children and families in our community.

Pre-K Classes

As preschoolers gain more self-esteem, they feel ready to take on the world. Our preschool curriculum enhances their confidence by providing activities to help them become problem solvers and nurture a love of learning. With independent exploration, structured activities, and hands-on learning, our children develop a variety of skills and knowledge in areas from mathematics to reading.

We're proud of the work we do. Early learning standards, backed by education experts, inform the scope and sequence of our pre-k program. Our curriculum aligns to 72 learning standards progressing sequentially across six developmental domains. Add to this a healthy dose of running, jumping and movement to keep children active and you'll see why Trusted Friends is a true leader in early childhood education.

Language Skills

Language, literacy, and communication skills are embedded into a child's daily experiences. We strive to create meaningful classroom experiences that help children use and build a growing vocabulary.

Math Exploration

Pre-k children are enthusiastic mathematicians. Our instructors work to ensure that our students don't simply learn numbers by rote, but instead build mathematical understanding related to real, everyday problems. Our curriculum includes important skills such as comparing and contrasting items by characteristics, following complex directions in sequence, and solving simple number problems.

Science Studies

As their cognitive and physical abilities develop, children are able to develop and test their own theories, and to engage in scientific reasoning. Our curriculum encourages students to broaden their understanding of scientific disciplines, from physics to chemistry to earth science. Children learn by participating in cooking projects and participating in multi-skill experiments, handling mechanical tools.

Creative Expressions

Pre-kindergarten is an ideal time to introduce children to artistic expression. Our pre-k teachers extend their student's skills and knowledge through process-oriented art projects. We teach sculpting with clay and etching tools, writing and illustrating books, and our students experience acting out original stories with costumes, props, and masks.

Cultural Sharing

Children are innately interested in the diversity of people and cultures. We foster the development of all areas of a child's emotional intelligence including interpersonal skills, compassion, and acceptance of personal responsibility. We believe in fostering respect for different cultures, traditions, and life styles.

Physical Wellness

Pre-k children learn about becoming responsible for their own choices and decisions. Our curriculum encourages students to learn physical wellness through physical activity, healthy eating, and personal hygiene. Everyday our children learn about themselves and others through supportive sharing times.

Learning through Play

by Sandra Turner-Davis, Ph.D.

Young children struggle to understand the world and their role in it. How does a child, as young as 4, make sense of the sensations that form their daily lives? The answer may not be what you think it is. It is clear that for a child, the most effective teacher is play.

And perhaps the most effective form of play is role-playing in which a child pretends to be someone else: a mother, a father, an astronaut, or a football star. Role-playing gives the child the ability to see the world from another perspective. In a caring and nurturing environment, role-playing can teach empathy and respect.

As the child grows, play can become more involved and complex. Playful interactions with others become more common with shared imaginations and roles. In cooperation with friends, children begin to make sense of their world and work through their fears and anxieties.

Parents: turn off the television and the Internet and join in the fun. There are few more rewarding experiences than playing with your child; through your play, you teach, your child learns, and sometimes your child teaches you too.

Raising a Reader

by Diane Haberstadt

Reading is the key to education and love of reading will lead to a love of learning. Consider the following tips to help cultivate a love of reading in your child.

- Talk the Talk Reading is about words, so help grow your child's vocabulary through active and imaginative conversation. The larger the vocabulary, the greater the opportunity for exciting and meaningful reading.
- Book It Do you have books in your house? Your child won't read without books and a nice library shows your commitment to reading. By the way, does your child see you reading?
- Make it Loud The first step to reading is reading aloud to your child. Build happy memories by sharing your favorite classics and don't be afraid of long books. Children can handle big books that take weeks — or even months — to finish.

Cultivating a love for reading is a gift that keep giving throughout your child's life and into his or her adulthood. Read about it.

Capt. Marvel and the Ghost of the Deep

Fawcett Comics

One of the most successful comic book publisher in the 1940's, Fawcett Publications began in 1919 with the magazine, Captain Billy's Whiz Bang. Its total circulation from all of its publications eventually reached over 10 million issues a month.

Fawcett is best known for its popular superhero, Captain Marvel, based on the adventures of radio reporter Billy Batson who would turn into Captain Marvel upon uttering the word Shazam! Other successful characters include Ibis the Invincible, Hopalong Cassidy, and Mister Scarlet. Fawcett was also known for its series of horror comics including Beware! Terror Tales, Worlds of Fear, and Strange Suspense Stories. The company branched out into humor comic magazines with Otis and Babs and Hoppy the Marvel Bunny among its most popular titles.

Facing declining sales, Fawcett Comics ceased publication of its superhero titles in 1953. Several of its titles were eventually sold to Charlton Comics.

Capt. Marvel and the Ghost of the Deep

Captain Marvel

In response to the popularity of Superman and Batman, Fawcett Comics introduced Captain Thunder in the 1939 issue of Flash Comics #1. The issue was an ashcan copy, a term for low-print runs whose purpose was not sales but to establish a trademark claim for legal purposes. Due to trademark infringements with another established character, Captain Thunder became Captain Marvelous and later Captain Marvel. Flash Comics became Whiz Comics (also due to trademark issues.)

Captain Marvel's alter ego was a 12-year old radio reporter named Billy Batson, a copy of Superman's alter ego, reporter Clark Kent, but younger to appeal to adolescent readers. Billy Batson's name was partially based on the nickname given to Fawcett Publication's founder Wilford Fawcett — "Captain Billy".

Marvel's Adversaries

Captain Marvel's arch enemy was the mad scientist Doctor Sivana, who regularly plotted elaborate schemes to rule the world and defeat both Captain Marvel and America. Sivana had four children who also had prominent roles in Captain Marvel's adventures. Two evil children, Georgia and Sivana, Jr., resembled their father both physically and in their desire to conquer the Earth. Sivana's daughter Beautia however, loved Captain Marvel and Sivana's son, Magnificus, was also a sometime-ally of the Captain.

Marvel's other adversaries included Captain Nazi and a nuclear-powered robot named Mister Atom. Matching Captain Marvel's adopted power from ancient heroes was Ibac, an evil magician who gained his power from the ancient villians Ivan the Terrible, Cesare Borgia, Attila the Hun, and Caligula.

One of the more popular serials in the Fawcett Comics run of Captain Marvel adventures was the Monster Society of Evil story arc which involved several of Marvel's adversaries from previous issues, including Doctor Sivana, Captain Nazi, and Ibac. The society was led by the cunning Mister Mind, a character who was eventually revealed to be a highly intelligent worm from another planet.

Marvel and the Nazis

The drama of World War II also played itself out in the adventures of the golden-era comic books. Many of Captain Marvel's adventures were based on thwarting nefarious plots hatched by Nazis and Nazi sympathizers. The most prominent of Captain Marvel's opponents in this regard was certainly Captain Nazi.

Captain Nazi was a genetically altered "super soldier" given superhuman strength, stamina, and the ability to fly. Acting as a Adolph Hitler's champion, Captain Nazi was sent personally by the fuhrer to do battle with America's superheroes including both Captain Marvel and Bulletman. He made in last appearance in a Fawcett comic book in 1944 but was later revised his role in several DC Comics reboots of the Captain Marvel franchise.

The Monster Society of Evil was home to several infamous characters from the Second World War. Adolph Hitler, Benito Mussolini and Tojo. were charters members, along with other prominent Nazis and war criminals. One of the schemes hatched by the society involved using Captain Nazi to steal magic fortune-telling pearls from an Egyptian princess. Another plot saw the society attempting to use a giant cannon to blow holes in various countries across the world. In all of these schemes, Captain Marvel was always there to save the day for the freedom-loving countries of the world.
